Shown above are the two cars that were involved in an accident near Paradise Lodge Hotel at Haliburton on Sunday, April 18th. Eight people were injured.

Eight injured in accident

Eight people received varying degrees of injury, as a result of a two-car collision on Highway 121 near Paradise Lodge Hotel, about three miles east of the Village of Haliburton, around 1:00 a.m. on Sunday, April 18.

One of the two drivers, Lawrence B. Scott, age 56, of 110 Town Line Road South in Oshawa, complained of pain and was treated at the Haliburton Red Cross Hospital, while the passengers in his vehicle received more tangible evidence of injury. Muriel Scott, age 50, suffered a broken jaw, Ronald Scott, age 20, with internal bleeding, Douglas Scott, age 13, received a broken back and Cheryl Scott, age 15, had glass in both her eyes, all are listed in serious condition in Peterborough Civic Hospital.

The driver of the other vehicle, Barry W. Jackson, age 20, of R.R. 1, Coe Hill, sustained bruises in the mishap while his passenger, Randy Harris of 1716 Duncan Street East, in Toronto received facial lacerations. A hitchhiker who had been picked up by Jackson a few miles from the accident scene, Chris Morrow, age 18, of Haliburton, sustained a bruised nose.

Ontario Provincial Police Constable Weldon Popp of the Minden Detachment in his report stated that the Scott vehicle was travelling westbound with the Jackson car proceeding in the opposite direction, with the collision occurring in the westbound lane. Damage has been estimated at $3,000, to the 1973 Chevy driven by Scott and $2500 to Jackson's 1968 Cougar.

Charges are still pending upon completion of the investigation.

Fatal accident claims life in Wilberforce

One person is dead as a result of an Easter weekend accident in the Minden OPP Detachment's territory.

Dead following bodily contact with a motor vehicle in Wilberforce, on Highway 648, is Viljam Juho Rantala, 78 of Harcourt. He was killed just after sunset around 7:55 p.m. on Good Friday evening when he was struck by a southbound vehicle driven by Colin O'Neil, 20, of 84 Westmount St., Oshawa, whose property damage has been estimated at about $200.

The report of investigating officer Constable Al Bibby indicates that the O'Neil car travelling southbound in the southbound lane was being met by a northbound car driven by Frederick Harvey, 33, of Highland Grove, when the accident occurred.

The point of impact has been established as being in the southbound lane as the O'Neil vehicle skidded in what police suggest was a sudden braking effort to avoid the pedestrian.

Mr. Rantala came to Canada forty years ago from Finland, and apparently has no known relatives residing here in Canada.

Coroner was Dr. Harry Good of Haliburton.

Investigation was conducted by Constable Al Bibby of the Minden Detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police.

Larry Watson representative to Ottawa

Larry Watson will represent the Rotary Club of Haliburton at the 1976 "Adventure in Citizenship" to be held in Ottawa, May 9 to 13, it was announced today by club president, Peter Curry.

Larry, aged 17, who lives with his parents at Tory Hill is a Grade 11 student at Haliburton Highlands Secondary School.

covering such subjects as citizenship, parliamentary procedure, democratic government, and issues of the day. They hear addresses by the Prime Minister, Leader of the Opposition, and other prominent Canadians at luncheons and dinners. On the final day of the "Adventure" each student is presented with a formal Certificate of Canadian Citizenship.

In the 25 years since the project was conceived by The Rotary Club of Ottawa, more than 6,000 young Canadians have participated in the "Adventure". Students chosen for outstanding achievements in their own communities, are brought together each year in the nation's capital to see the centre of government, the national parliament, the national centres for the arts and sciences, and to meet leaders of government, the professions, business and education.

They visit "The Hill" to see Parliament in action and such places as Rideau Hall (Government House), the National Arts Centre, National Gallery, national museums, Supreme Court, and the RCMP Training Centre. They take part in group discussions at a university.

One of this year's speakers will be the Honourable Joe Clark, 36 year old newly elected leader of Her Majesty's Loyal Opposition, who in 1956, made his first trip to Ottawa from his home in High River Alberta, as a Rotary Adventurer. It was at that time that he became imbued with the challenge of a political career.

Weekend fires cause havoc

It wasn't only the weather that was hot over the weekend and just preceding it in the Gooderham area - there were several fires which kept local firemen and forest fire fighters on the double, not to mention officers from Minden OPP Detachment.

The series of events began with the burning last Wednesday of Tamarac Gardens in Gooderham with a loss estimated by Fire Chief Elgin MacDuff of $40,000 on the building and $15,000 on contents.

The unoccupied but furnished building on the shore of Gooderham Lake was burned to the ground early last Wednesday morning.

A former dance hall and of frame construction, Ron Barr of Barr's General Store, Gooderham, said that the building was owned by George Sharp of Toronto, and had been converted to four furnished apartments.

According to available information the fire broke out around three a.m. and although Gooderham has a volunteer fire brigade with some equipment - pumper, etc., the fire had gained such a foothold that all that could be done was to concentrate on saving cottages on either side.

Mr. Barr said that the total damage would be quite extensive as he understood there was a considerable quantity of furniture in the building, not to mention four separate heating units.

Minden OPP's Constable Maher is said to have been summoned when the blaze was discovered, and the identification unit from the Peterborough Detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police also attended the scene along with Inspector Paul McKerracher of the Belleville Branch, Ontario Fire Marshal's Office. Arson is suspected in this blaze.

The former dance hall, a building 60' x 90', has been a village landmark for the past 25 years.

Saturday afternoon saw a flareup at the Hunter Lumber Ltd.'s mill involving a diesel engine which powered the mill's chipping machine. The fire chief attributes this fire to a battery short circuit and estimates damage to the diesel unit at about $10,000. No structural damage resulted.

What hasn't been so easy to figure out is the cause of multiple grass and swamp fires which have been the bane of forestry and police officers since the hot, dry weekend set in. Upwards of eight have been fought during the course of the holiday period, one of them involving over 200 acres.

Stanhope to appeal

Stanhope Township Council, being far from satisfied with the 1976 apportionment for this township of the County Board of Education budget, has decided to appeal the amount charged to the Township on the grounds that an unfair assessment is being used.

Councilman John Tomlinson, having done some research on the subject of the cost to the township, points out that in 1975 with 115 pupils from Stanhope, and with a cost to the township in that year of $193,330 it is costing $1681.00 per year per student. This is apart from the provincial grants and subsidies for education purposes. Councilman Tomlinson points out in comparison, that it cost $1870.00 in that year to send a pupil to Upper Canada College and wonders "What is wrong?" Stanhope Township is still awaiting the decision of the Ontario Municipal Board on the appeal now before it regarding the unfair assessment figure used in 1975.

A pleasant note at the Council meeting was the gratification of the members at the response of the ratepayers to the interim tax billing. With the cash inflow the township is in an unusually good financial position inasmuch as there will be no need to borrow to meet any early payment demands. Instead of paying interest the township will be earning some interest on its money.

John Eakins, M.P.P., speaks out in Legislature

Mr. Eakins: Mr. Speaker, it's a pleasure to rise and participate in this debate. I intend to speak only briefly. However, with the undivided attention which each speaker receives it is tempting to go on for an hour or two. I must say that if any changes were being made in the House, the one which I would make would be some limitation on the length of speeches.

I'd like to recognize first our friends from Halton-Burlington who are under the Speaker's gallery here, constituents of the member of Halton - Burlington (Mr. Reed). It was a pleasure meeting with them earlier this evening and we certainly welcome them to the House here tonight.

Mr. Gaunt: Great riding, great member.

Mr. Eakins: That's right.

An Hon. member: Tremendous.

Mr. Eakins: One of the pleasures in coming into the House has been to renew acquaintance with many of the people whom I knew when I served in the municipal service as a councillor and as a mayor and many from all sides of the House who are here tonight. I know that the Minister of Agriculture and Food (Mr. W. Newman) and the Chairman of Cabinet (Mr. Brunelle) have both been very kind to our municipal association, and in particular the towns and villages, and I note in tonight's paper the member for Cochrane North is not going to seek re-election. I don't believe he's in the House, but I just want to wish him well.

There is one person I believe who deserves to be in this House as much as anyone and it's the member for Welland (Mr. Swart). He's a good municipal friend of mine whom I've known over the years and who made a good contribution to municipal affairs. He served on the mayors and reeves executive and certainly the member for Welland is one of the people who has spent many elections endeavouring to get here and I'm delighted to see that he is here tonight.

Mr. Kerrio: Actually, they need him worse back in the region.

Mr. Ruston: Overnight guest

Mr. Eakins: As I said I feel very honoured to rise and participate in the Throne debate and to speak on behalf of my constituents in that great riding of Victoria and Haliburton. I want to say first of all that I'm most grateful to the people of my riding for allowing me the opportunity to be of service to them here at Queen's Park. I feel very humble as their member, especially as I look back over the years on the history of these two great counties and of the quality of the members who have served. While the history extends back to when Victoria and Haliburton was divided and had two members, I'm sure most people recollect and recall the days in a more familiar way from the 1930's onward. Perhaps I'm more aware of it because there had not been a Liberal member elected since the election of 1934 until last Sept. 18.

Hon. Mr. Snow: May be short-lived.

Mr. Eakins: For a number of years from 1934 this great area of the province was served by the late William Newman of the village of Lorneville in Eldon Township. Mr. Newman served with distinction and a record to be proud of and made a great contribution to this House.

Mr. Gaunt: He was the late William Newman. The present member is the great William Newman.

Hon. W. Newman: He was the wrong side of the family.

Mr. Reid: There was one smart one in the family.

Mr. Riddell: It seems to me you were a Liberal in college. Were you?

Hon. W. Newman: No.

Mr. Eakins: It is interesting to note that the last election the late William Newman won was in 1934. This was also the year of the only election defeat ever suffered by his opponent who as a gentleman by the name of Leslie Frost, Mr. Frost ran again, as members know, in 1937 and was successful and, of course, from that day to this, the events of those years are well recorded.

Hon. Mr. Snow: Great Man.

Mr. Reid: We need him back now.

Mr. Eakins: The Hon. Leslie M. Frost, who became Premier in 1949, will, I'm sure, be remembered as one of the outstanding figures in Ontario's political history.

He was a leader in every sense of the word. He was astute; he was understanding but must important, and what some politicians seem to forget today, he knew and understood the common man.

Hon. W. Newman: That's because he was a Tory.

Mr. Reid: He's the last Conservative who did.

Mr. Eakins: In private conversation, one was able to learn first hand of the high regard he held for many of his political opponents.

For the past 12 years this seat was held by Glen Hodgson, a gentleman for whom I have a very high personal regard. I am delighted to see that this week the riding is having a dinner in his honour.

Having come up through the ranks of municipal service and knowing the history and representation of my riding, I feel very humble and most honoured to have the opportunity to represent the people of Victoria-Haliburton at Queen's Park.

I want to mention first and to express very strongly my deep concern over the closing of the small community hospitals in Ontario, as many other speakers have mentioned in their speeches. If this government is serious in any way regarding the need for decentralization, to my mind it is going about it in a very awkward way. The order to close Bobcaygeon's Hillcroft Hospital is a very deep to this community and its surrounding area.

I question very seriously the advice and the wisdom of the Ministry of Health in the manner in which this was carried out. I find it unbelievable that these closings would be announced when the House was in recess and without any opportunity to debate the merits of these orders. I'm sure that anyone who has served in municipal office would know that if municipal councillors carried out their discussions and business this way, they would be removed at the next election.

Mr. Kerrio: That's going to happen here.

Mr. Eakins: It is quite apparent that neither the minister nor his staff even knew where Bobcaygeon was located. Even the minister was quoted as saying that he didn't realize the distance between Lindsay and Bobcaygeon, a distance of some 24 miles, was as great and that with adverse road conditions the drive was much longer than anticipated.

I believe that whoever gave the minister this poor advice also did not take into consideration the fact that Hillcroft Hospital serves a very large summer population of upwards of 100,000 people. With the beautiful Kawartha on the doorstep of Metro Toronto, many find it convenient to use the services of Bobcaygeon and Ross Memorial in Lindsay when they have sudden illnesses and accidents in the summer. This should not be overlooked because many of the Metro people find it convenient to have their accidents in this part of the province.

The cutback at Ross Memorial Hospital in Lindsay is one of the heaviest in the province. When this hospital was built a few years ago and opened about two years ago, it was built according to the specifications and the requirements of this government. Now the government says it is too large and has to be cut back. I believe and I say that the ministry must bear full responsibility for the poor planning of which it is the author. Please don't pull all the blame for restraints on the citizens for asking too much.

Mr. Ruston: Mismanagement.

Mr. Eakins: When you close hospitals and close beds and lay off people in small communities, you are in effect tearing the heart out of the community and telling the towns and villages on Ontario they haven't much of a future.

I would like to ask the Health ministry and the Premier (Mr. Davis) some questions and I would appreciate their response. Does the Ministry of Health have an overall plan with regard to health care and the place of each hospital within that plan? If so, this should be communicated to the hospitals and to the public.

Is there an actual plan with regard to the present restraint programme as it effects all hospitals? It has been suggested, though this has not been substantiated, that one yardstick you are using is that the ministry is to cut $1,000 per bed. If this is so, why is it so unevenly applied? If this is the case then the Ross Memorial Hospital in Lindsay has about the equivalent of $3,000 per bed removed from its 1976-1977 budget.

Why is the whole programme handled in such a manner? Is it actually for shock value; and why has the Ministry of Health been placed so drastically in the forefront of the government's total restraint programme?

The letter from the ministry to the hospital notifying them of the sudden switch in policy with regard to this hospital suggested there is no appeal mechanism. This does not seem right to me, that they cannot appeal the orders from the ministry.

The present method of handling the whole situation actually suggests a state of panic in the Ministry of Health. Of course, this might be passed further up the line to the responsibility of the Treasurer (Mr. McKeough).

I recognize that restraints are not only inevitable but advisable. I also recognize the method in which they have been brought about and how unevenly they have been applied across the province.

I am also very concerned about the lack of government initiative to develop our smaller communities. I think we must all give serious thought to the need to develop a system of balanced growth in Ontario.

Urban development is progressing in some areas at a pace which is clearly out of control from the point of view of housing and transportation facilities. The entire social/economic situation is a matter of real anxiety for some people living in the Metro area. There is a great need for a slowdown in the development and expansion of many of our larger cities.

In England, for example, the capital city of London, faced with a similar situation took action to bring some control to development by creating a greenbelt around the city and giving enormous incentives to the location of industry in areas away from the metropolis.

Many small communities in Ontario experience great difficulties because of the small tax base. They are losing their young people and skilled workers to the cities because that is where the jobs are to be found. At the same time industry is attracted to the city because of the availability of manpower.

We have, in effect, a vicious circle. We must take action before we have a serious crisis on our hands. Sooner or later we must take the bull by the horns and inaugurate an all-over provincial plan of development to assist our small communities. I know that in many of our communities, an increased population of 2,000 would be a tremendous assistance. But in others, up through my riding, even 500 people would make a noticeable difference. At the same time, we would be removing some of the intense pressure being experienced in our urban centres.

Any effective means of bringing out a degree of balanced growth in Ontario must be based on a considerable amount of government participation. In many respects I think governments have been far too much involved in our day-to-day lives. When I say that considerable government participation would be necessary to achieve balanced growth, I certainly don't mean I feel less concerned about the extent to which government bureaucracy tends to infringe on the rights of the individual.

However, there are some results which can only be achieved by the direction and participation of the government acting on a province-wide basis, and balanced growth falls into that category.

When one is considering a problem as complex and wide-ranging, I see centralization of growth in the urban areas and development of our last densely populated regions. This has to be dealt with under the auspices of the provincial government. (10:00)

One suggestion that has considerable merit in this connection is the concept of some form of land servicing programme. But one of the many obstacles in the way of opening up or improving specific areas for residential or industrial development is the expense of making available sufficiently service land. If a provincial servicing programme were to be established the movement could, in consultation with municipalities, designate specific areas where it is agreed that residential, commercial and/or industrial development is desirable and necessary.

The availability of comparably inexpensive serviced land in underdeveloped areas would encourage the location of secondary industries, with the attendant residential development in the vicinity of the new employment source. Capital grants, low interest and longterm loans would be additional incentives for secondary industries and small business enterprises to locate in areas away from the big cities and the highly industrialized regions.

At one time, the private and public sectors of the economy were clearly defined and separate. However, over the years they have become almost inextricably bound. Taxes on payroll, on income, capital gains on sales, on succession, by reducing profit and the ability to finance growth, tend to encourage the small businessman to sell out. On the other hand, the larger firms, the multi-national corporations, the conglomerates, are in a position to obtain special tax advantages.

Capital incentives, the ability to deduct interest costs of borrowing for acquisition, the right to offset the losses of one firm against the profits of another, these are only a few examples of the way the larger companies can benefit. We must find a means to reverse the trend to larger and larger and to encourage the proliferation of smaller companies suitable for location in smaller communities.

Government intervention in the private sector has helped to bring about the drift toward the larger companies at the expense of the individual, the small businessman; and no doubt only government intervention can bring about a change of direction in this area by providing the incentives necessary to encourage small operations to come into existence and remain afloat.

It is a pleasure to rise and to speak on behalf of the people of Victoria-Haliburton and to represent them here at Queen's Park. Thank You.

Local Midgets bow out to Watford

The fifth game of the All Ontario Midget "D" Final, took place at our local arena Friday evening at 8 o'clock. The largest crowd of the year squeezed themselves into the arena with a good following of fans in attendance from Watford.

The play began and in the first rush put on by Watford, they capitalized on a scramble in front of Haliburton's net, and at the thirty two second mark Thrower put the first goal by LaPorte as they gained possession from the maze of all the players with the fine passing of team mates Jones and Bloomfield. A goal early in the game such as this is a big boost for the scoring team. At five minutes and four seconds Ed Roberts of Haliburton and Muirhead of Watford both got the gate for charging and roughing respectively. Just three seconds later Bloomfield of Watford got caught on a hooking call to give the locals a two man advantage, but with the fine stand up defensive play and solid goaltending from Watford, they were just unable to buy a goal. At the seven fifty six mark, Rodney Consack and Don Jones both went off for two minutes on an unnecessary roughness penalty. With this extra room to move around, either team could score with both having the equal opportunities.

At nine minutes and four seconds the officials sent Blunt of Watford off for interference, and it proved a costly penalty as Joe Roberts scored assisted by Levely and Stinson to tie up the game. Minutes later at the eleven twenty one mark Jones of Watford received an elbowing call but the locals just couldn't put the puck in.

At thirteen fifteen Rod Consack got the gate on a kneeling penalty and it turned out costly to Haliburton as Richardson put Watford one up assisted by Wilson and Hallbrook. Both clubs scored in this first period on power plays with penalties proving costly with Watford leading two to one at the end of the first.

Early in the second period Haliburton put on a rush and nearly tallied as Roberts put it over to Stinson and just as he shot, Watford's Richardson blocked the play to thwart their drive. The clubs were playing good evenly balanced hockey with both having goal chances but at the four seventeen mark with Haliburton once again putting on the pressure, the referees caught Davis and Hallbrook in front of the Watford net for high sticking. This seemed to spark the locals, but time after time they were stopped cold handed by the outstanding play of Watford's goaltender Chesley. Dave Levely working extra hard was beaten by Chesley and the pressure of Haliburton forced Watford to ice the puck. At the seven minute mark Watford's Jones once again got caught as he took out Steve Davies in front of their net and he received a two minute slashing call to give the Haliburton team a good opportunity on a power play. The locals just couldn't beat Chesley as he seemed to board up the net on try after try.

At the twelve minute and six second mark Haliburton's Mike Scheffee got the gate for holding and Watford didn't waste any time as Jim Wilson found the mark assisted by Jones and Richardson to put them ahead three to one. The second period ended with the Watford team ahead, but if not for the fine play of goaltender Chesley, Haliburton could have been leading, but his fine play and with his defensemen clearing the puck they came out in front.

Haliburton's aggressiveness just didn't pay off early in the third and final period as an apparent goal was disallowed with the officials being right on top of the play. Minutes after the Haliburton teams Andy Salvatori got the gate, but their penalty killing unit played well and Watford failed to score. Near the middle of the period Watford's Bloomfield received a holding penalty, but Watford's penalty killers were also effective and Haliburton couldn't take advantage of the opportunity. Chesley blocked shot after shot, fulfilling the role he had played during the whole game. At the fourteen minute mark Haliburton's Mike Scheffee got an elbowing penalty but Watford seemed to be content to play defensive, and not get caught up the ice, and this they did for the remaining minutes, and when the buzzer sounded, it not only ended the game, but the series with Watford the Ontario Midget "D" Champions. Both teams are to be congratulated on their efforts put forth and coaches and management should be recognized for their many hours of time in developing the two best teams in Midget "D" in Ontario.

This was a very successful season for the Haliburton team and manager Len Salvatori and others who undertook jobs for its success and congratulations to the team for its great year!

Ball team set practice date

The hockey season in Haliburton is over and now it's time to play ball. Haliburton will once again be having a team in the Haliburton County Softball League.

We have just been advised that the Haliburton Huskies Senior Mens Softball team will be holding their first workout at the Haliburton Ball Diamond at the fairgrounds on Tuesday, April 27th at 7 o'clock.

Anyone wishing to play ball for the Haliburton team please be at the ball diamond on this night.

Branch 129 Sports

The local branch sent out a group of Shuffleboard players to represent their district to Belleville last Saturday.

Two teams consisting of four players and a spare were decided into an A and B team representing Branch 129.

This tournament was held to distinguish the teams to represent this Legion District best and a total of eighteen branches were represented in this play-off.

Haliburton entering its first big competition fared quite well as they played fourth only to be edged out of third place by Brighton, which accumulated more points.

The Haliburton teams played a total of thirty two games, and won 17 games, and losing 15. This was the best average for all teams represented, but to come out on top with 150 players participating is quite an accomplishment in your first big tournament. The teams had a full twelve hour day and their showing was a boost in the arm for next years teams to represent Branch 129.

Belleville's A & B teams both came out on top, then Brighton and Haliburton. Haliburton's "A" team played 18 games and won 12, the "B" team played 14 games winning five.

Immersion program set

BURLINGTON -- Lord Elgin High School has launched an experimental program of "total immersion education" in which the student studies only one subject in an intensive, continuous program lasting about four weeks.

Ted Runions, chairman of the immersion committee, said the experiment starting in February will be a first for Ontario.

Total immersion will allow a student to take four or five credit courses during a semester, with 19 or 20 days of concentration on each subject.

The experiment will be accompanied by heightened community involvement, he added.

Joseph Pace, the board's director of education, said the board has a small vacant school in nearby Courtright which could be used if a group of 100 to 120 students wants instruction delivered in French. At present, francophone students from this area are being bused to St. Thomas Aquinas school in Sarnia.

Along the Trails

Roy Bates

HELP FROM BUFFALO

On Easter weekend my good friend Carl Nieman, author of "Ecstasy in Snow" published here last fall, paid me a visit with his chainsaw tucked neatly into the saddle-bag of his BMW.

Together we tackled the Hunters Horn Trail (Holiday Inn Trail renamed) to widen it for Bombi grooming. The day was beautiful though a little too warm for comfort. And there were no insects. We worked away diligently until we ran out of gas, us and the chainsaws, finishing about ¾ of the section between Donald and the old Minden Road.

There remains a short section to be widened, about ¼ mile should be re-routed to avoid some seedling pines, and there is one small bridge to be beefed up. When this work is completed the trail will provide easy access for snowmobilers from the lodges on Kashagawigamog to the many miles of trails lying East of Highway 519.

New Trails Planned

All trail projects of the HCSA this year are aimed at making more trails groomable while eliminating so far as possible road links and water crossings. There will be extensive changes in many sectors.

One such improvement, now in the planning stage, would divert much of the heavy snowmobile traffic from the main street of the hamlet of Donald. The proposed route has been walked to determine the easiest cutting and now requires only the approval of the Ministry of Natural Resources before clearing can begin. This trail would utilize the unplowed access road to Lochlin Lake thence southwesterly across Crown Land to intersect the existing Gelert Trail at the Glamorgan - Snowdon boundary, thus eliminating for through traffic a half mile of plowed and sanded township road and two highway crossings. In addition, it would place the trail somewhat closer to the re-fuelling station at Koshlong Marina.

This is but one of many great improvements being considered for your snowmobiling enjoyment next year and in years to come. The speed with which they are attained will depend to a large extent on the snowmobilers' willingness to pitch in and help with the work.

Carl Nieman came all the way from Buffalo to do his share. Is it not your turn?

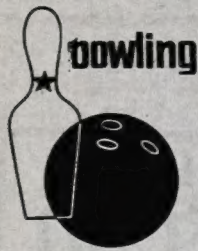

Five teams in local ball league

Recently a meeting was held in Haliburton to arrange scheduling etc., of the upcoming ball season. This year there will be five teams from the local area, namely Minden (Gull River Build All) and Minden (Dominion Hotel); West Guilford, Haliburton (Highlands) Haliburton (Legion) The schedule will start approximately May 18th with two tournaments to be played in June. The league tournament will be June 12 and an inter league between Bobcaygeon, Fenelon Falls, Bancroft, Harcourt, etc., held on June 19th between different towns.

The league is trying to organize a interlocking schedule with Fenelon Falls and Bobcaygeon also.

Haliburton's teams will play on Tuesdays and Thursdays at 8:00 p.m. with West Guilford on Sundays at 2:00 p.m. and Minden's teams Monday and Wednesday - times to be announced.

LADIES SOFTBALL

It's time to play ball for the girls of Haliburton.

The first workout will be held at the ball diamond at the Haliburton Fairgrounds tonight (Wednesday) at 6 o'clock.

The team will once again be entered in the Haliburton Ladies Softball League.

All girls interested in playing ball this summer are asked to be on hand for the first practice.

EDITORIALS

Keep on truckin'

On Sunday morning, April 11th, 46 truckers met at the Royal Canadian Legion Hall in Haliburton. These truckers are from the newly formed Haliburton-Victoria Truckers Association. They met on this particular date to pick their 1976 executive.

This meeting was just one of a few that the truckers have held recently in Haliburton. Noting that the Provincial Government were planning on putting certain restrictions on that would effect the local truckers they decided to ban together to form an association. There is an old saying that there is strength in numbers and like everyone else they understand that if they are to get a fair deal they must pull together.

We wish the truckers and their association the best of luck in the days ahead.

It's the law!

Motorists are reminded to clear the way for emergency vehicles - it's the law.

If you hear a police, fire, ambulance or public utility emergency vehicle siren or bell, or if you see a flashing red light mounted on the vehicle, get out of the way.

Bring your car to a stop as near as possible to the side of the road and clear of any intersection.

On a roadway with more than two lanes for traffic and designated for the use of one-way traffic, bring your vehicle to a stop as close as possible to the nearest curb or edge of any intersection.

Volunteer fire fighters are authorized to display an amber and white flashing light showing the letters "V.F.F." on their vehicles when proceeding to a fire or other emergency.

So the next time you hear a police, fire or ambulance siren, please pull off to the side of the road and let them by. They are in a hurry and it could mean the matter of life or death.

Easter weekend

The Easter weekend is over, and it brought with it those lazy, hazy, crazy days of summer, as local residents here basked all weekend in above normal spring temperatures. The weekend also brought with it local car accidents that took several lives, but on the brighter side, local merchants report that it was one of the busiest Easter weekends on record.

On the sports front, the Haliburton Midgets finally bowed out after a successful season to Watford at the Haliburton Arena on Friday night. The local team gave it all they had and were right in it, to the finish.

Reports of hockey violence took over the front pages of the Toronto dailies following a real donnybrook at Maple Leaf Gardens last Thursday night. There wasn't too much hockey but a night of fighting as the Philadelphia Flyers teed off against the Toronto Maple Leafs.

The fans want to see hockey and it's just about time that the National Hockey League cleaned up their act. They want to see hockey, not violence.

During all the talk that followed the game there's one thing we must admit. In our opinion most of the fans like to see a good fight, as long as no one is hurt and it's not carried too far.

In spite of picketing in front of Maple Leaf Gardens against violence in hockey on Saturday afternoon a sell out crowd was on hand for the evening performance and tickets were being scalped from $75.00 to $100.00 a seat.

Report from Parliament

by

William C. Scott

Last Friday the Prime Minister took another step along the road to what he calls the "patriation" of the Canadian Constitution, or, to be more exact, the British North American Act.

The Prime Minister has made much of this issue, tending to imply along the line that bringing home the constitution is his own idea. He has gone so far as to say that, if he cannot get a consensus from the provinces on a method of bringing it to Canada, then he is prepared to take action on his own, without that consent.

His speech in the House last Friday on the subject gave me reason for great concern, and I think that all Canadians should be equally concerned. My concern is based on two important considerations, and both of these should be resolved before the BNA Act is brought to Canada.

In the first place, no Prime Minister, and especially not Prime Minister Trudeau, should be allowed to gain control of the BNA Act unless an amending formula has been worked out and approved unanimously by all of the ten provinces.

Without this amending formula, a Prime Minister with a majority in Parliament could make amendments to the constitution by simply tabling a bill in Parliament. In the case of the present Prime Minister, and his captive members in the House, such a move would reflect the views and wishes of this small group in Parliament, rather than the views of the provinces, and the people of Canada.

In the second place, Mr. Trudeau's determination to bring the BNA Act to Canada looks too much like just another step in down-grading the Monarchy in Canada. Before I would agree to having the constitution brought to Canada I would have to have some real assurances that the Monarchy would retain its status in our constitution, our Parliament and in our other traditional institutions.

It is no secret that when the provinces failed to reach an agreement at the Victoria Conference, it was because the Premier of Quebec insisted on certain rights for that province that would not be enjoyed by other provinces, mainly language rights, control over all federal programs in that province, and, control by Quebec over immigration and communications.

Some rights, or responsibilities, rest naturally and logically with the federal government, and it would not make sense for a single province to be placed on an equal footing with the federal government in some matters, while all the other provinces would be on a lower level with respect to those same matters.

Trudeau and Bourassa have never made a secret of their disenchantment over the position of the Monarchy in Canadian affairs, or of their desire to change Canada into a republic. This is still another reason why we should distrust Trudeau's motives in wanting to bring the BNA Act home, with or without an amending formula.

Canada as a republic, without any attachment to the British Monarch, would be just another third-rate, third world republic, with no traditions and no checks on the power of a despotic leader, short of outright civil disorder. We have seen too much of that sort of thing in other countries around the world.

Trudeau is a "Johnny-come-lately" as far as patriation of the BNA Act is concerned, but he is the first to threaten to do it on his own. I want a purely Canadian constitution as much as any person, but, rather than bring our constitution home and into the hands of Pierre Trudeau, without consent of the provinces and without an amending formula, I'd rather leave it in Britain for awhile longer. At this point in time it is not a priority.

Employer must provide first aid facilities

(The following article continues a series on Workmen's Compensation in the province of Ontario.)

Ontario's Workmen's Compensation system is designed to provide the province's work force with overall protection against the aftermath of injury resulting from workplace accidents. And that means treatment of slight injuries as well as the more serious incidents which result in loss of work time and a requirement for extensive medical care.

To ensure immediate treatment of any injury, regulations under authority of the Ontario Workmen's Compensation Act require that all employers in the province provide facilities for First Aid treatment commensurate with the size of their operations. The cost of furnishing such First Aid facilities and seeing they are operated by competent staff is a direct responsibility of the employer.

The regulations are quite specific as to what is required, even to the extent of itemizing the minimum in supplies and equipment to be maintained at the First Aid station or in the First Aid room which an employer must provide. In addition, it is the responsibility of the employer to ensure that an employee specifically designated as in charge of the First Aid facility has been trained to a level of proficiency in First Aid equivalent to St. John Ambulance standards.

For example, an employer who has five or fewer employees working any one shift is required under regulations to provide a First Aid box with specified supplies, in the charge of an employee who works in the immediate vicinity of an area designated as the First Aid station and who holds a valid St. John Ambulance Emergency First Aid Certificate or equivalent. A company employing 200 or more workers on the other hand must furnish a more extensively equipped and stocked First Aid room, in the charge of an employee holding a valid St. John Am-balance Standard First Aid Certificate or equivalent. The employee responsible for First Aid must work in the immediate vicinity of the First Aid room and should not perform other work of a nature likely to affect adversely his or her ability to administer First Aid.

The Workmen's Compensation Act regulations applicable to the provision of First Aid treatment for all injuries are also quite specific as to requirements for keeping a complete record of all incidents, no matter how minor they may seem to be at the time of occurrence. Employers are instructed to post in conspicuous locations throughout their establishments notices of the necessity on the part of the employees to report all accidents and receive First Aid treatment for any injury, however slight. The employer, for his part, is responsible for seeing that such incident is recorded, furnishing full detail of all circumstances respecting the incident as described by the employee, including date and time of the occurrence, names of witnesses, as well as the nature and exact location of injuries and the date, time and nature of each First Aid treatment given.

Where the injury is such that medical treatment beyond the First Aid rendered is required, the employer is required to complete and pass along to the injured employee a Treatment Memorandum (WCBO Form 156) and also to provide the WCBO with the Employer's Report of Accident (WCBO Form 7).

It should be stressed once again, however, that even though medical treatment beyond the First Aid rendered is not provided, the employer is responsible for having full detail of the incident covered in a report at the company's First Aid station.

It's a rip-off

©The Argyle Syndicate Ltd.

Bill Smiley

HAVE you had the feeling in the last couple of years that everybody and his brother, and sister, is trying to rip you off? I have. And I don't like it.

Perhaps it's because of inflation, but I don't recall any period in my life in this country in which so many people were pursuing the buck so avidly, with an almost complete disregard for what they produce in return for that buck.

Result is a steady deterioration in service, courtesy and integrity in the business world. Perhaps it's just a reflection, but the same disintegration seems to be taking place in the social world.

Insolence and indifference are becoming the trademarks of the business world. Bad manners and worse language have become almost obligatory in the social world.

I haven't the space to deal with both aspects in one column, so I'll just catalogue a few typical examples of the kind of rip-off and shabby treatment that are merely the tip of the iceberg.

My wife ordered two pairs of infant pyjamas from one of our huge, national department stores. The catalogue priced them at $2.25 a pair. Now the catalogue did state that prices quoted were only guaranteed until a certain date.

The parcel arrived a few days after that date. The goods were satisfactory. Each pair was encased in the manufacturer's plastic package, clearly labeled $2.25. But the bill from the department store was for $2.50 a pair.

These had obviously been bought to sell at a good profit for $2.25. Probably 100 per cent mark-up. Suddenly they cost $2.50. Chickenfeed, you say? More like chicanery, if you add up all those quarters on a national basis, and multiply it by all the other items boosted in price for no reason at all except that the department store can probably get away with it.

My wife ordered a caftan from some outfit, which advertised satisfaction guaranteed or your money refunded. She ordered one down to her calves and received one down to her navel. She sent it back and asked for her money back. Two weeks later, a form letter said the company would be happy to fill her order for the right size. Sometime. Only $14, but they have the money and she doesn't have the dress, and I know what the outcome will be.

They will stiff-arm her with form letters, in response to her angry, passionate, or pleading inquiries, until she gives up. Some day, the shoddy thing will arrive, designed for a lady midget or a professional basket-ball player.

Went to the city for winter break. Stayed at a hotel we'd frequented for years. Didn't bother to get a reservation, after reading articles about city hotels operating at a little over 50 per cent capacity.

"What? You want a room without a reservation?"

"Yes."

"Well! How do you intend to pay?"

Getting a little browned off, I ticked the item marked "by cheque." That's how I've paid for years.

"Oh, we don't accept cheques."

"Well, what the hell's it on the registration card for?"

"Oh, we have a new policy. That'll be cash. In advance."

By now, steam was coming out my ears. Here I was, an old customer. Obviously not a dead-beat. The hotel was about one-third full. If I'd been alone, I'd have told them what to do with the entire operation, sideways. But my wife was sitting there on the luggage. I paid, muttering. Pluse $2 key deposit, another item in the new policy.

Went to our room, ordered some ice. I went out for a paper. My wife signed for the ice, standard procedure. A few moments after I got back, a flustered waiter was at the door, waving a bill. I was an "Advance" and had to pay cash. The sum was $1. He was embarrassed, I was furious.

Things weren't good. The room was rather shabby. Breakfast arrived, borne by a surly waiter, half an hour late. The handle on the coffee pot was broken, the wheat cakes were cold.

Nothing improved. To top the whole performance, they tried to over-charge me when I checked out. It was only $1.15, but by this time I'd have taken it to the Supreme Court. I hollered, and I got my pittance.

It's no wonder city hotels are less than half filled.

I know what you're saying. "Smiley had his dignity hurt, because he was treated like a transient."

Not at all. My dignity, what's left of it, can't be hurt by such trivia.

There's nothing wrong with cash on the barrel-head. But there is something wrong when customers are treated with insolence, indifference and bad manners. And ripped off into the bargain, unless they fight like tigers.

New diet standards

There's a new Dietary Standard for Canada, and it recommends a substantial increase in the daily intake of energy and nutrients.

The new standard, made public by Health and Welfare Minister Marc Lalonde, is based on scientific data of the daily amounts of energy and essential nutrients considered adequate to meet the needs of practically all healthy Canadians. The recommended quantities exceed the minimum requirements for most individuals because they must take into account variations in human needs for specific nutrients.

The new standard contains recommended daily intakes of energy and of 27 nutrients, an increase of 12 over the previous one. This increase in the number of nutrients was possible because of additional knowledge about the actual functions of nutrients in the body.

Changes have also been made in the age-weight-sex groupings since it was recognized that requirements vary with age, body size and physiological state.

Copies of the new standards are available from Information Canada bookstores for $3.75.

Haliburton Highlights

The Easter weekend proved to be very busy for the local merchants and many visitors were in Haliburton for the weekend.

St. George's Day Celebration will be held on Saturday, April 24th at St. George's Parish Hall at 6:00 p.m. It's a Pot Luck Supper so please bring the family and a favourite dish. The entertainment features a ventriloquist and special music.

At a meeting of the Five Counties Crippled Childrens' Centre held at the Centre in Peterborough last Wednesday night, Lloyd Coneybeare of the Haliburton Rotary Club was made 1st Vice President.

A serious modern industrial pollutant, Mercury, can be effectively removed from water by using anthracite coal, according to Canadian patent no. 974,337. Earlier processes are described in the patent (granted to Sobin Chemicals Inc. of Massachusetts) as "prohibitively expensive" or "markedly inefficient" whereas anthracite coal has a low initial cost and can be easily reused.

Another method of fighting water pollution has been devised by Jean-Marc Lalancette of the University of Sherbrooke, Que. He has patented (no. 975,876) seventeen different ways to use peat moss for removing the industrial metallic wastes that pollute our watercourses. The inventor states that he has produced an inexpensive and thorough means of both reducing water contamination and recovering the metallic substances.

Haliburton Hairdressing has a new owner, Marion Teatro, who has purchased the business from Audrey Perrott. Marion has been associated with the business for over ten years.

Shamrock Drillers Ltd. announce the opening of it's Quarry and Aggregate Division on Highway 519 (1.5 miles south of the Village of Haliburton).

We welcome to Haliburton, Wycliffe Bible Translators "Live the miracle of God Communicating", an unusual 6 projector multi-media Production will be held at the Haliburton High School Auditorium on Friday, April 23rd at 7:30 p.m. On the programme are N.A.S.A. space shots.

In an effort to save lives and fuel, the Ontario government has lowered the speed limit on provincial highways.

The new speed limits, affecting both passenger and commercial vehicles, came into effect February 1st.

On Ontario's 662 miles of freeway, the speed limit has been lowered to 60 miles per hour from 70.

The maximum limit on all other highways has been reduced to 50 miles per hour from 60, except for two major Northern Ontario routes.

Special maximum speed limits of 55 miles per hour are allowed on Highway 17, linking the Manitoba and Quebec borders, and on Highway 11 from North Bay north and west to Rainy River.

Ontario Transportation and Communications Minister James Snow said the government set the 55-mile per hour limit on these inter-provincial routes to conform with expected changes to speed limits in other provinces.

Effective, May 1, 1976 the following dumps will be closed in the Municipality of Dysart et al (1) Donald-alternative Haliburton (2) Eagle Lake - alternative West Guilford or Haliburton.

Report from Queen's Park by John Eakins

The debate on the Budget began this week, and the Financial Critic for the New Democratic Party introduced a non-confidence motion. However, this will not be voted upon until December, and it is unlikely to be supported by the Liberal Party. This is, of course, the second non-confidence motion introduced against the minority Conservative Government this session. It attacks the Government for its handling of the economy, its increased OHIP premiums and its failure to act on a host of agricultural, health, transit and economic development issues.

Leading off the debate for the Liberal Party, Marvin Shore, M.P.P. (London North) questioned the Treasurer's projected budgetary expenditure increase of 11.7%, because the Government has made a practice of underestimating its expenditures, and pointed out that, in any event, keeping expenditures to this level was hardly a major achievement in view of the fact that Quebec's increase in expenditures is only 11.0% and Nova Scotia's is only 11.3%.

Mr. Shore underlined the fact that, although the provincial deficit has been reduced, it was still, at one and a quarter billion dollars, the second highest deficit in Ontario history, and he questioned the Government's reliance on possibly over-estimated projected exports to underwrite the Treasurer's forecasts for revenue and employment figures.

The Treasurer claimed in the Budget Statement that he is providing stronger incentives to Ontario's small business companies. However, he had done little more than eliminate some of the burdensome paper work involved in the Government's tax credit scheme. "The number of companies to benefit has increased to 50,000 from 20,000, it's true, but by reducing the tax rate from 12% to 9%, the Treasurer is not providing one extra penny to small businessmen in Ontario. He admits himself that the $30 million cost of this reduction is identical to the cost of the tax credit scheme which it replaces. The net result is that a larger number of businesses must divide the same size pie into smaller pieces. In addition, the small businessman will be forced to pay increase OHIP premiums.

Mr. Shore referred to the need to evolve some better approach to provincial-municipal relations if we are to expect municipalities to be reasonably autonomous and to plan intelligently, and expressed the opinion that the Provincial Government and the municipalities should establish budgets on a multi-year basis, rather than basing their calculations on a 12-month period, which would be more efficient, and enable municipalities to establish priorities and make long-range plans.

Both Opposition Party Leaders questioned the acting Health Minister on differences between letters written by her to the four hospitals which had appealed the government decision to close them down and a statement made by the Premier in the Legislature. The letters had made no mention of ambulatory care as an alternative use of the buildings whilst the Premier's statement did so. Liberal Members Jack Riddell (Huron-Middlesex) and Robert McKesock (Grey) also asked that the hospitals in their ridings - in Clinton and Durham - be given full details on what is planned for them.

In answer to Mr. Riddell's assertion that her letters and the Premier's statement were in contradiction, the Acting Minister of Health replied that there is "absolutely no contradiction.. they are entirely in the same spirit". The Premier's statement had indicated that Doctors Hospital in Toronto can remain open as an ambulatory-care unit to provide whatever radiological and minor-surgery services are needed by the community.

Liberal Leader Stuart Smith has called upon the Government to devise some form of compensation for owners of farmland if they are to be prevented from selling it for development. He suggested the provincial government must bring in a master land-use plan for the province if the best farmland is to be kept in food production. Selective freezes on selling land for development would have to be applied in some regions, and he said "it's possible to pick certain areas and freeze them and pay reasonable compensation without bankrupting the province."

See you next week.

ONTARIO CONSUMER Protecting Your Reputation and Credit Rating

How much do you think people have to do with your credit record and your reputation? Perhaps more than you've realized.

The Ontario Consumer Reporting Act provides for the registration of consumer reporting agencies and those persons employed in investigating personal information for consumer reporting purposes.

The Act requires responsible conduct from businesses that gather, store, assemble or use credit and/or personal information.

While you may or may not agree with the principle of having files compiled on you, the Consumer Reporting Act covers you against the misuse of the information, or just plain inaccurate information.

Credit as well as personal reports are used extensively by most lending institutions. In addition, many employers, companies and landlords use reporting agencies to obtain personality background profiles.

Let's say you've decided to buy a new car and your loan application has been turned down. The loan manager has a report revealing information unacceptable for his firm to extend you credit. Now you're faced with not buying the car, or, if you can get credit elsewhere, probably paying a much higher rate of interest as a marginal risk.

If you are turned down in a credit application as a result of a report that has been compiled about you, the loan firm is required to tell you the name and address of the source agency. That agency is obligated to disclose your file to you, if you write requesting an appointment for that purpose. If an error has been made, the reporting agency has to send out a corrected version to anyone who received the incorrect report.

The Act clearly provides for significant fines for people and companies that refuse to correct any misinformation.

This is only an example of what can happen. If you have some questions that were not answered here, write. Remember, your credit rating is your responsibility and it's up to you to protect your reputation.

Many inquiries re herbicides for use in forest tree planting

The Ministry has had many inquiries from private landowners concerning the use of herbicides in tree planting. Owners of plantations should remember that vegetation competition is the most common reason for mortality of tree seedlings in newly established plantations and may be controlled by the use of herbicides.

Depending on climatic conditions in any given year, the competition related mortality will vary. For example, if rainfall is well distributed throughout the growing season, mortality from competitive factors is likely to be low. On the other hand, if a prolonged drought (three to four weeks) should occur, mortality may be extremely high. The recommended vegetation control chemicals bear trade names, such as Princep 80W, Amitrole-T, Gramoxone, and Amizine. They can be purchased at most farm supply stores and manufacturers recommendations should be followed closely.

For further information contact the Ministry of Natural Resources 322 Kent Street West, Lindsay, Ontario. Phone 1-705-324-6121.

SPRING TREE PLANTING

From now to the end of May you may see Ministry of Natural Resources vehicles along the highways loaded with trees. This is an indication the Spring tree planting season is here.

The Lindsay District staff will plant 856,000 nursery stock species such as Red & White Pine, White & Norway Spruce, Cedar, European Larch, White Ash, Black Locust, Sugar and Silver Maple, Red Oak and Carolina Poplar, and will plant approximately 1000 acres of land. The above species will be from 1 to 4 years of age when lifted from the Nursery beds to be planted on Private lands under the Woodlands Improvement Act, Agreement Forest and Crown Lands.

The spring planting will require from 100-120 extra employees and will be recruited in the Counties of Northumberland, Victoria & Peterborough and Municipality of Durham, where 215,000, 197,000, 105,000 and 336,000 trees respectively will be planted.

Approximately 80% of the trees will be hand planted with the balance being planted by machine.

The objective of this planting is mainly for the production of wood and wood products as well as other uses such as protection against floods and erosion, proper environmental conditions for wildlife, recreation, protection and maintenance of water supplies.

Boy Scout and Wolf Cub Tree Planting

In conjunction with the Ministry regular planting program we will be involved in assisting planting programs for Scout groups from Lindsay, Port Hope and Cobourg and surrounding areas.

550 Scouts and Cubs will assist in the planting of some 28,000 seedlings. We usually attempt to have each Scout and Cub plant 50 trees under the supervision of Ministry staff assisted by Scout Leaders and the parents of the group.

This planting is under the program of Trees for Canada sponsored by the Boy Scouts of Canada Association.

Smelt Fishing in Lake Ontario Only

R.W. Beacher, District Fish & Wildlife Supervisor

Once again this spring the streams of Lindsay District flowing into Lake Ontario are teeming with migratory rainbow trout. As these fish make their way to traditional spawning grounds, Ministry of Natural Resources Conservation Officers work around the clock to ensure that the poacher's net does not interrupt their journey. Lindsay District Conservation Officers already report that numerous charges have been laid against those who would take fish illegally during their spawning run. The fishing season for trout in these waters opens April 24 this year.

Smelt from Lake Ontario also run up these prime trout streams and this presents an additional problem. While it is legal to fish for smelt in Lake Ontario, it is an offence to engage in such netting activity "north of the Lake," that is, in these trout streams. Smelt fishermen are therefore cautioned to confine their fishing to the Lake as failure to comply with this regulation can lead to charges under the Ontario Fishery Regulations.

The new Stanhope Library is at the point where the painters will be moving in soon, and the Library Committee is optimistic that the building will be in use sooner than expected, with an official opening to take place at a later date. Users of the library will find a larger selection of books available, and with resources of the Haliburton County Library Board plus the Lake Ontario Library System to draw from a wide range of needs can be met.

Gifts of books have been received from Mrs. Tom Nunn and also from Mrs. Elizabeth Nunn, and the committee is very appreciative to the donors for the number and the usefulness of the books. A desk for the librarian has been promised which will be a valuable gift.

Our Fire Department is not losing time getting started on the new addition to the Fire Hall. Ground work has begun and already the firemen and the ladies have received numerous calls offering saleable items for their auction sale May 22nd. Other callers have promised cash donations, all of which is very encouraging to the firemen, an to the ladies who have their own plans for supporting our Fire Department in the fund raising effort. Don't forget the very interesting young auctioneer who is said to be the most entertaining performer in his field.

Governments also have responsibility

For quite some time now, the Canadian public have been subjected to a lot of criticism from its elected representatives, who find themselves faced with difficult social and economic problems. The burden of the criticism is that we, the public, have been asking for too much, that we, the public, have not been acting responsibly.

Having submitted more or less patiently to this exposition of our shortcomings, might it not also be appropriate to examine, as well, the conduct of our elected representatives? If we, the people, are irresponsible, what has happened to responsible government? If, as Prime Minister Trudeau has hinted, governments may have to acquire more authority, what evidence is there concerning their willingness and capacity to exercise it responsibly?

There is no doubt that criticism of the public is justified. Our demands and expectations have been increasing much faster than our collective ability to satisfy them. There is no doubt that many groups of citizens, some large, some small, have been acting irresponsibly.

If you cast your mind back a few years, you will recall that there were frequent comments and warnings about that sort of behavior. They came from businessmen, from economists, from people very close to the government, such as the Governor of the Bank of Canada and the Auditor-General of Canada.

Many of those warnings were quite specific. They noted that governments, in order to meet public demands, were siphoning off more and more of Canada's national income, that governments were, in addition, borrowing more and more money. They warned that such conduct was reducing Canada's capacity to generate wealth and that it was destroying the value of money.

As we know now, to our sorrow and dismay, those warnings were fully justified. As we also know, governments ignored them. As a result, we now have serious unemployment, serious economic stagnation, serious inflation. These are not isolated phenomena, they are closely connected.

The federal government has a considerable responsibility for allowing these adverse conditions to develop. It is responsible for unemployment insurance, for example. Only now is it, grudgingly, admitting that the legislation it passed, and the methods of applying that legislation, are full of loopholes which encourage artful dodgers to live in idleness. The public did, indeed, want assistance given to those who could not get work. It did not ask the government to support idlers or those who did not find the job available quite suited to their taste.

Examination of other social and economic measures which had general public approval shows that, again and again, that government, rather than trying to restrain public demands, has far exceeded them. Thus a considerable part of the federal government's financial trouble is of its own making and further, it has set a bad example to junior governments.

Like the federal government, the Ontario government is now plagued with financial and social troubles and it is reluctant to accept any responsibility for them. Part of the blame it attributes to federal stinginess and ineptness, another part to municipal governments but we, the people, do not escape censure, for wanting too much. Our demands for medical care, we are given to understand, are excessive.

It may be pertinent to recall that when introduction of a health plan first was proposed for Ontario, various studies of the cost were made. The government of the day assured us we easily could afford it. It derided other studies that forecast (correctly, as it has turned out) a rapid and intolerable escalation of costs, unless restraints were built into the plan.

Rather than restraining public use of health insurance, governments not only encouraged, but forced, acceptance of the cheap benefits it provided. Now government is concerned about the cost, it is rushing around slashing at benefits, and accusing the public of wanting too much.

Originally, the public wanted a medical insurance plan that would ensure that those who could not pay the full cost would get as good treatment as those who could pay.

Now I ask you, who is being irresponsible?

Government funds available for community projects

If you're retired and would like to start up a project in your community, why not have a look at a special federal government program that assists the establishment of such worthwhile efforts.

The program is called New Horizons. It comes under the governments department of Health and Welfare Canada. New Horizons was established in 1972. Since then it has helped to finance more than 5,100 projects across the country to the tune of more than $29-million.

This unique program enables retired people to create projects of their own choosing. It offers grants to groups of retired people who will undertake activities for the benefit of themselves and others in their community. The accent is on local needs as seen by older people, and on their willingness to meet such needs.

The ideas for projects originate from individuals or groups. If you do not have a group -- and a group of 10 persons is necessary -- then you'll get assistance in getting one together. More important is the fact that New Horizons will provide the necessary funds to get the project off the ground. Additional assistance can be available if it is deemed necessary.

Objectives of New Horizons are three fold:

1. to encourage the retired to participate in community life;
2. to provide an opportunity to senior citizens to utilize their knowledge and experience;
3. encourage mutual aid among retired people.

Virtually any group of retired citizens may be eligible for assistance providing that the activity usefully and creatively involves senior citizens, meets their specific needs, and benefits them and the community in which they live.

To qualify, projects must be planned and carried out by a group of at least 10 persons -- a majority of them retired -- who become the Directors of the project and take responsibility for its implementation and administration.

Funds granted under the program may be used to meet the cost of planning, organizing, and carrying out projects. This includes such items as rental of accommodations, rental or purchase of equipment, minor building repairs, telephone, publicity, salaries of temporary staff, consultants and audit fees.

Among the many projects viewed as really creative have been cross-country skiing clubs, groups who have researched and written local histories and a clinic for seniors which also provided diet information, created and staffed by a group of retired doctors, teachers and health workers.

Grants have been made for a broad range of activities, including, more recently, physical programs.

More information on the program may be obtained by writing to: New Horizons, 6th Floor, Health and Welfare Canada, 1243 Islington Avenue, Toronto, Ontario. Telephone 239-3973.

Offer tips for safe eating

Health and Welfare Canada warns that there is a growing problem of food-borne Salmonella infection and suggests that the public take steps to protect against the bacteria.

Foods of all sorts carry bacteria. Most are harmless. However, poultry sometimes carries Salmonellosis which is a common bacterial food-borne disease that affects both humans and animals. Usual symptoms in humans are vomiting, diarrhea and fever.

The department has issued a pamphlet called "Bird Watching" which gives a number of tips on proper preparation and storing of raw and cooked poultry in order to avoid the growth of the bacterial.

Cooking kills most bacteria and storing at refrigerator temperatures prevents most of them from growing, the department says.

For a copy of the pamphlet write to Public Relations Officer, Health and Welfare Canada, 9th Floor, 789 Don Mills Road, Don Mills, Ontario. M3C 1T5.

From the Chamber

by Bob Stinson

The Chamber of Commerce is now located in the Information Booth on Highway #35. We are all moved in but as yet not too well organized. At the time of writing we are still waiting for the Bell Telephone to move the phones into the new location and the plumbers to get the water running.

It became obvious as soon as we started to move into the building that we were none to soon. On Good Friday with furniture and cartons piled all over the place we found ourselves talking to car loads of tourists taking advantage of the unseasonably warm weather. The trend even continued on Monday as we still struggled to unpack and dispense helpful information to the travelling public. It looks like we are going to have a busy year. We would like to remind all our members once again to drop their brochures into the both for distribution as soon as possible. For the present the booth will be open only Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday, but if this warm weather continues we will be extending our hours of operation before long.

The warm weather coincided with the end of the hockey season in Haliburton. The Haliburton Midgits were eliminated from the All Ontario Finals Friday night by an exceptional team from Watford (near Sarnia). The lads from Haliburton deserve a great deal of credit for going this far, and certainly there is no shame in losing to such a good team. The many fans that accompanied this Watford team said they were very impressed with our area and the hospitality they received and many will be back to visit us again.

As soon as we are well organized in our new location we will hold an "Open House". At this time we will invite Russ Pearson from Gestetner to attend and provide demonstrations of what our "Scanner" can do to help you in your business.

The Marina at Haliburton Lake is now under new management. Ken and Wanda Evans are the new proprietors and the establishment will now be known as the Fort Irwin Marina. Ken and Wanda have been regular visitors to our area for sometime and are happy to now become permanent residents. Bill Freeman has been back to see them twice and offered them considerable advice which they certainly appreciated. We certainly wish them success and we hope you will all make our new neighbours welcome.

Norm Hobbs was just in the office to let us know that he has had a good response to his idea of starting a riding club at Sportsman Bay Stables. He therefore says that the club will definitely be getting underway shortly. That's good news.

Student programs for the summer of 1976

As part of the Ontario Government's continuing program of providing employment opportunities for young people during the summer, the Ministry of Labour is again this year giving students the opportunity of gaining practical experience in the Ministry's work.

The students will be working in the areas of industrial relations, employment standards, personnel, women's programs, and human rights.

Under the Industrial Relations Program, 55 senior students from courses in law, business and administration, commerce, finance and related labour studies will be assigned to labour unions and councils, consulting firms, large companies and employee associations to gain practical experience in the field of Industrial Relations through exposure to the everyday dynamics in the field and participation in its operations.

The remaining main programs of the Ministry of Labour are part of Experience '76 which is an Ontario Government program co-ordinated by the Ontario Youth Secretariat and designed to provide supplementary summer employment in the broad areas of culture, recreation, social services, education and the environment.

Through the Employment Standards Branch province-wide construction industry survey, 43 students will be assigned to collect data related to job classification, hourly rates, hours of work and overtime payments. They will learn about actual working conditions in the construction industry while providing the Ministry with information needed to update Industrial Standards Schedules and other related Acts.

A further 41 students will be placed in personnel offices in industry and will gain practical knowledge of the personnel function through their work in its various phases i.e. recruitment, compensation, employee benefits, staff development, and training.

A further 36 students will be assigned to Women's Advisors and officers of the Women Crown Employees office in various projects related to Affirmative Action, i.e., research, education and publicity. Through their exposure to provincial government Ministries and organizations they will gain practical experience in dealing with employees, supervisors and management in a work setting.

Ten students will work with the Women's Bureau and will participate in the revision and updating of "Career Selector" publications through research and organization of updated data pertaining to current occupational information. They will also assist in the updating and revision of holdings of the Bureau's resource centre.

An additional 10 students will work with human rights officers of the Ontario Human Rights Commission in their community and educational duties. They will contact appropriate clients including employers, tourist personnel, etc., and distribute informational material.

We'll help you make it.

Home repairs and improvements are so much easier when you have proper instructions. So...

we're offering a book (at a very special price) which we think can help you tackle almost any job around the house. The "Popular Mechanics New Complete Manual of Home Repair and Improvement". Its easy-to-follow instructions and detailed illustrations can assist the expert or guide the novice "do-it-yourselfer".

You can discover numerous new projects or successfully complete old ones. You save money doing it yourself, and save time when you know how to do it. This book shows you such things as how to build an extra room, how to fix a leaky faucet, how to repair an appliance, and much much more.

It may just be your most useful book. Come in. Look through it... and see what you think.

Foreign bank influx free from regulation

The number of foreign banks and other financial institutions operating in Canada has more than tripled in eight years and now totals 200, the Canadian Bankers' Association (CBA) says. There were 150 in mid-1974 and 60 in 1967.

The association, which has asked the federal government to regulate the operation of these institutions, says most represent American, British, German, French, Japanese, Swiss and Dutch interests.

Others have their home offices in Italy, Brazil, Spain, Portugal, Hong Kong, the U.S.S.R., Korea, South Africa, Yugoslavia, Israel and the Canary Islands.

"Foreign financial operations have moved into Canada in large numbers and are subject to none of the central regulation and restraint required of the domestic banks," the CBA says. "This poses another threat of loss of control by the federal government over the exercise of banking in this country."

The CBA, the industry association of the Canadian chartered banks, says that the 200 foreign institutions represented include 43 resident representative offices of foreign banks; seven trust companies; 78 financing companies; 38 leasing and factoring firms; and 34 engaged in a wide range of other activity.

Most are incorporated under provincial legislation, unlike the chartered banks which must operate under the federal Bank Act.

The CBA in a brief to the federal finance minister in preparation for the scheduled 1977 revision of the Bank Act said the presence of these foreign financial institutions should be legitimized even in advance of the Bank Act revision.

"The basic issue is the growth of this activity completely free of any control or supervision by the federal monetary authorities. There are today no laws or regulations or even guidelines for foreign banking operations in Canada."

"Foreign banks, either directly or indirectly, exercise far broader powers in Canada than Canadian chartered banks."

The CBA noted, for instance, that these foreign banks are engaging in leasing and factoring, which the Canadian banks are not permitted to carry out directly. It asked the same right for Canadian banks.

RADIO CLUB

The Haliburton and Area Radio Club held a meeting at the West Guilford Community Centre on Sunday, April 11th. There was a good turnout of area residents from Bancroft, Highland Grove, Tory Hill, Minden, Carnarvon, Haliburton, Eagle Lake, West Guilford.

The village of Minden was not well represented and it is hoped that a larger turnout will be on hand from that centre at the next meeting.

At this meeting it was decided to hold a coffee break for all those families who are in need at the present time. It was decided to hold a coffee break for a West Guilford family who lost their mother this week.

The executive will be elected at the next meeting at the West Guilford Community Centre which will be held on Sunday, May 9th at 1:00 p.m.

ASSETS DOUBLE

Assets of the Canadian chartered banks passed the $100 billion mark in 1975, having more than doubled in five years.

Both police and forestry officials say they have their suspicions as to the cause but the problem has been to pin it down... There just doesn't seem to be anything concrete to go on, except for one thing... something police aren't ready to reveal yet but might lead to the causative factor.

A spokesman for the Ontario Ministry of Natural Resources at Gooderham, says most of the fires have been coped with by ministry personnel but in the instance of the large acreage outbreak, street recruitment was involved. "We just go along and anyone who is fit and unoccupied is put to work fighting the fire", he explained.

As of this Easter Monday morning all the fires in this area have been extinguished but tinder try conditions prevail in the area where only isolated traces of snow in very sheltered bush areas remain.

The unseasonably hot weather has also speeded up the departure of the ice from the lakes and many are now reported open in the Highland area.

Excerpts from speech made by Liberal leader

Excerpts from Liberal Leader Stuart Smith's speech to the Maldimand-Norfolk Liberal Association annual dinner, the German Club, Delhi, March 12, 8 p.m.

ON ENERGY

"Our energy supply in the future must be dependable and it must also be safe."

Says Ontario Liberal Leader Stuart Smith.

Smith charged that the Ontario government is not taking our energy problems seriously.

"We have been schooled as energy gluttons. It is now time for conservation to be our guiding principle. We must concentrate seriously on finding alternative forms of energy; alternatives that are renewable and that are non-polluting or very low in pollutants."

He cited solar heat, wind power and geothermal power as three examples. Studies by General Electric, Westinghouse and TRW Inc. show solar heating and cooling equipment may be economical and on the market by 1985.

"There are exciting options. I can't fathom the present government investing $10 million in uranium exploration when 20 or 30 years from now, we'll face the same shortage we do today in gas and oil."

"I'm very concerned about public safety, as well. Although the economy of nuclear power today can't be argued, there are problems. Experts say plutonium-239, intended as a man-made fuel in future breeder-reactors, is a lethal cancer-causing product. Radiation leaks are a risk. Vast volumes of water needed in the cooling process can spur a build-up of predators in our lakes and waters because of the high temperatures. Surely these risks are not to be accepted when alternatives may exist."

Smith also touched on other policies that he says are needed. These included setting up a network of waste recovery plants across Ontario similar to those that have proven commercially feasible in St. Louis, Mo.

"Canada should show the way in steering society away from the present trends of energy and resource depletion and pollution creation. We should switch from machines to labour-intensive industry, from large to small business, from waste to conservation. Our time is limited. We need a government prepared to lead, and to lead now."

Retarded adults residential service accepted

The Haliburton County and District Association for the Mentally Retarded is pleased to announce that its plans for the establishment of a residential service for retarded adults has been accepted by the Government of Ontario and by its local membership.

All Communities of our County will benefit by this programme. It is designed to offer the mentally retarded adult, presently living at home, a place to live in supervised independence. Stimulation through work and recreation in the residence and in the Community will enable all residents to live as independent a life as their potential will allow.

The Association is planning on renting accommodation which can provide comfortable quarters for up to six adults and a live in staff of two. Such a home, if close to a large community, would encourage residents to become self-sufficient and independent enough to contribute to the area in which they live.

Large government institutions have traditionally been the only alternative to home life for the mentally retarded adults of Haliburton County. In providing an environment as comfortable as home, but with the independence all young people seek and need, our Association is establishing the first rural residence for mentally retarded adults in Ontario.

Such initiative and concern for these citizens of Haliburton County deserves our total support.

The Association hopes that all individuals and organizations in the County will help in its search for a residence and that support will continue through the encouragement of this much needed community programme.

Don't waste a drop!

After the furnace, the water heater is the biggest user of energy in your home. Waste hot water, and you're wasting valuable energy.

That's a good reason for getting full value from your water heater in every way you can. By fixing leaky faucets. By insulating long runs of hot water pipe. By waiting until you have a full load before you switch on the clothes or dishwasher. By using cold or cool water when it will do the job. By taking shorter showers or shallower baths. By making sure that all the hot water that eventually goes down the drain works hard for you before it goes.

The Cascade electric water heater gives you a dependable supply of hot water and it makes good use of all the energy it consumes. But it's up to you to use hot water wisely. Don't waste a drop.

Public Service Union raps provincial budget

Toronto -- The Ontario budget introduced into the Legislature is little more than a plan to tax the poor to reinforce the rich, according to the president of the union representing provincial government employees.

Charles Darrow, president of the 60,000 member Ontario Public Service Employees Union, said the 45.5 per cent increase in Ontario hospital insurance premiums is another move to place the burden of health services directly upon the backs of working people.

"This move is regressive. It treats medicare as a privately-owned insurance plan, rather than a plan to provide basic health care to all citizens of Ontario."

"It is obvious that the government is not interested in the health of Ontario residents, but rather whether, through taxation and cruel premiums, sickness can be made to pay in Ontario."

"We believe that this has gone beyond the bounds of dignity and acceptability. We believe health care must be a basic public service the same as police protection or education."

Darrow said that it has been long understood that the philosophy behind medicare is not that of paying for what you get, but rather the assurance that people shall have access to medical care whether they can pay or not.

"Health care premiums are regressive. We in OPSEU believe that OHIP 'premiums' should be part of the overall income tax, based on one's ability to pay, not on a fixed cash outlay every month which sees the labourer earning $3 an hour pay the same amount as the corporation executive or cabinet minister who earns in excess of $40,000 a year."

"This is, without question, discrimination against the working poor -- those who earn less than $9,000 a year," Darrow said. "For a worker earning $9,600 a year the OHIP increase is about 4% while for a stockbroker earning $38,000 it is about one per cent."

He said that upon analyzing the increase, it is found that $42 million will be paid by those who pay their own premiums and $22 million will be paid by workers through payroll deductions. Of the $164 million that will be paid by corporations through employee compensation packages, about $50 million will be deducted from corporate income taxes.

"Thus, about 30 per cent of the increase of the cost to employers will be recouped as tax savings, whereas the employees -- the working people of Ontario -- will have to pay tax on the entire premium increase," Darrow said.

As far as government cutbacks are concerned, Darrow said that this ploy - which was used last year by the Davis government - is a scheme to deflect public attention from the real issue of political error rather than economic necessity.

"Last year we heard Treasurer Darcy McKeough tell of the needed cutbacks in the civil service. To date, all McKeough has told the public is the number of civil servants that he has gotten rid of, many of them through layoffs. His government refuses to tell us how many people have been added to the 'shadow civil service' - those thousands who are hired as contract employees to do the work left undone when civil servants are cutback."

"The government continues to try to impress the voters of Ontario with the numbers of civil servants slashed from the payroll, but they have yet to face the fact that for every person unemployed, there is an increase in the amount of unemployment insurance paid out and a proportionate decrease in this province's productivity."

Darrow said that the tax cuts made to corporations and business will do nothing to alleviate the economic ills of Ontario, but only add to the disparity of income between the rich and the poor.

"When corporation taxes account for only about 12 cents on the tax dollar, how can reducing this figure to 10 cents on the dollar add to the economic vitality of Ontario?"

"It was proven last year that even with corporations paying 12 cents of each dollar of government revenue, the weight of carrying our society was squarely placed on the backs of working-class Ontario."

"If you don't believe me, have another look at your income tax. When I filled out mine, I couldn't help but think 'carry a company for Davis'."

"This budget carries nothing for the average tax payer of Ontario," Darrow said. "But it does carry those who are best able to carry themselves."

Open House at Kinmount

In recognition of Education Week, pupils of Kinmount Public School held their annual Open House on Wednesday, April 7 at 7:30 p.m. Parents were welcomed by the President of the Red Cross, Laurie Scott. In her address she explained the theme of Education Week "Knowledge is Understanding" and how the staff and students are relating it to classroom situations.

After touring the classrooms and viewing pupil efforts on display, parents were invited to the library for a special presentation by grades 1, 2, and 3. The children entertained with plays, poems and songs. Distinguished guests were Clare Fielder who brought greetings from the Board of Education, Maurice Watson, Reeve of Somerville and Peter Pearson, Reeve of Galway - Cavendish. They thanked the staff and pupils for a splendid effort and encouraged them to present more programs like this in the future.

Principal, Mrs. I. Austin thanked the parents for their wonderful response and co-operation in helping to make the Open House such a great success.

At the conclusion of the program lunch was served by the Red Cross Executive.

Live Theatre comes to Wilberforce

In an effort to expose all children in the county to live theatre, the Haliburton County Public Library, in co-operation with the Haliburton County Board of Education and the Ontario Arts Council brought Studio Lab's Theatre production of "Huckleberry Finn" to the Archie Stouffer Public School and the Haliburton Senior Elementary School last year. The show was enjoyed by more than 1000 children, but there were no public performances. This year, the public library has engaged Studio Lab Theatre to present its widely publicized and well-reviewed "Just So Stories" at the Lloyd W. Watson Memorial Centre in Wilberforce, Thursday, April 29th. An afternoon performance will play for the 275 students and teachers of Cardiff, Wilberforce and Gooderham schools. Students will not be charged admission for attendance at this show. An evening performance to begin at 7:30 p.m. is open to the public. Admission is only $1.00 per person. We hope, by offering such high quality inexpensive entertainment, to attract whole families to the centre in Wilberforce for an enjoyable evening. The production is aimed at a family audience so will appeal to all ages. This event is widely publicized throughout all our schools and social agencies. We hope you will assist us in our efforts to promote children's theatre in Haliburton and will encourage people to attend "Just So Stories" on Thursday, April 29th at 7:30 p.m.

It is only through the success of this type of venture that the Library Board can continue to support multi-cultural activities as part of its programme.

U.I.C. prosecution

Ruth Wilson of Lakefield pleaded guilty to 8 counts of fraud in connection with her Unemployment Insurance claim for benefits. Judge L.T.G. Collins of Peterborough assessed fines of $100.00 for each count or 10 days consecutive in jail if not paid. On the 24th March, 1976, Mrs. Wilson was arraigned and entered a plea of guilty, however, it was adjourned to the 5th April and she was advised to return with the dates that she would be capable of paying the overpayment plus the $800.00 in fines. As of the 1st of June, 1976, Mrs. Wilson will repay $50.00 on the first day of each month for a total of 16 months to the courts and also repay the $260.00 overpayment to the Commission by April 23, 1976.

John Todd of Peterborough was found guilty of two counts of false statements in regards to particulars of employment.

Judge Batten of Peterborough fined Todd $50.00 for each count with 30 days to pay or 10 days in jail for default.

Todd will also have an UIC overpayment because of his actions of $404.00. Date of trial 7 April, 1976.

ontario liberal leader

TORONTO - Ontario Liberal Leader, Stuart Smith, today announced the appointment of Nigel Dunn, of Toronto, as his Special Assistant, Communications. Mr. Dunn will function as press secretary to the Liberal Leader.

Mr. Dunn was an assistant city editor of the Toronto Telegram when it ceased publication in 1971, and since then has served in the field of public relations with the Federal Ministry of Transport and with a private agency.

Mr. Dunn's newspaper background includes service with the Toronto Star and the Globe and Mail, as well as the old Telegram and newspapers in Vancouver and Calgary. He has worked in the press galleries at Queen's Park and Ottawa.

Mr. Dunn will assume his new duties officially on April 1, 1976.

Old Age Pensions

OTTAWA - Increases in the Old Age Security Pension, Guaranteed Income Supplement and Spouse's Allowance, effective in April 1976, were announced today by Health and Welfare Minister Marc Lalonde.

Increases in Old Age Security Pension and Guaranteed Income Supplement payments represent the tenth quarterly escalation based on the cost-of living, as provided for in the Old Age Security Act.

The new monthly total at the single rate for persons receiving both the basic Old Age Security pension and maximum Guaranteed Income Supplement will be $230.41.

For a married couple who are both pensioners, the combination of the basic pension and maximum supplement will provide a payment of $439.56 for the couple monthly.

The basic Old Age Security pension will rise in April to $135.43 from the present $132.90.

The maximum Guaranteed Income Supplement for a single person, or a married person whose spouse is not a pensioner and is not receiving a Spouse's Allowance, will go up in April to $94.99 from its current $93.22. The maximum supplement for a married couple, both pensioners, will increase to $84.35 each from $82.78. Added to the basic pension, this will give each married pensioner $219.78 monthly, or a total of $439.56 for the couple.

The maximum Spouse's Allowance will increase to $219.78 from $215.68. The maximum Spouse's Allowance is made up of an amount equivalent to the basic Old Age Security pension and an amount equivalent to the maximum Guaranteed Income Supplement at the married rate.

Harbourfront Council presents report

TORONTO -- Harbourfront Council has recommended establishment of a corporation to develop and manage the 86-acre strip of waterfront land between York Street and Stadium Road, Toronto.

The recommendation was made in a formal report presented by Harbourfront Council Chairman Jim Walker to Hon. Barney Danson, Federal Minister of State for Urban Affairs, Mayor David Crombie, and Metro Chairman Paul Godfrey.

In presenting the report, the Harbourfront Council Chairman requested commitment to the Council's recommendations "as a matter of urgency" by the various government levels concerned.

The report recommends formation of a non-profit corporation without share capital. The members would be "at least three of the following: the Government of Canada; the Province of Ontario; Metropolitan Toronto; and the city of Toronto."

The report stated that many important issues must be resolved before the proposals can be implemented - issues such as terms of government participation, details of the corporate charter, and others. The report recommends that an interim board should be established to be responsible for this work and to complete the task begun by the Harbourfront Council.

This board would be responsible for laying the foundation for the permanent corporation. The interim board would manage the site during 1976-77.

The corporation would be operationally self-sustaining with revenues from real estate operations being used for public interest programming.

But a five-year capital investment of $36.5 million would be required - primarily for clearing and landscaping the site and for renovations to existing buildings.

The expenditures would be phased to allow for gradual evolution of the project in response to the needs of the community.

Describing the physical plan, Mr. Walker said: "There will be urban parks and fine walkways. These will include a boardwalk virtually the entire length of the actual waterfront and linking into the pedestrian and cycle systems to Ontario Place and the Exhibition Place at one end, to old Fort York and the CN Tower north of the site, and to Union Station, Harbour Square and the East Bayfront area at the other end of the site."

Mr. Walker pointed out that the Council's proposals call for about 75 acres of parkland, but added that the best structures now on the site would be retained and renovated for "an exciting range of cultural and recreational uses" as well as complementary commercial activities.

He emphasized that the tradition and flavour of the waterfront would be respected and added that some existing industries "which constitute a significant and interesting operating resource of Toronto" would be retained, and where possible opened up for public viewing.

The Cost of the Cross

In the closing events prior to the death of our Lord Jesus on Calvary the evil hearts of the leaders in Israel and the Roman civil authorities were openly revealed. However, on the other hand, the gracious heart of the Lord Jesus was also in plain view. What a contrast that scene offered! On the one side we see terrible wickedness, deceit, foul play, and cold indifference, while on the other we see undying devotion to God the Father and a meekness unparalleled in human history. Never had such graciousness been exemplified anywhere in the world. One must stand in awe and marvel at the calm and collective thinking of the innocent victim hanging on the central cross.

All four Gospel writers give us sketches of the "hour that had come," John 12:27. According to John, who was an eyewitness of that hour, the events which led up to the final combat with the enemy of men's souls, were a hurried and crowded affair. Jesus had been taken with no resistance in the garden of Gethsemane, then hustled off to stand trial before the Sanhedrin. Quickly they conferred together as to how they might put Jesus to death, since they as a body of Jews had no lawful right to execute Him. That sentence must come from the Roman authority under whose rule Israel was living, John 18:31. The result of that conference was that Jesus was taken before Pilate, the Roman Governor, who wanted to know what the accusation against Him was.

The answer to that question was given by replying, "if He were not a 'malefactor', we would not have delivered Him up", Luke 22:66-23:2. Their cause was weak and the charges unfounded, so much so that Pilate quickly sensed the non-validity of them and he pronounced Him "not guilty", Luke 23:2-3. Recognizing in the course of questioning that Jesus was from Galilee, Pilate sent Him to Herod from whose jurisdiction He had come. He did so, seeking a way of escape for himself with no blame attached.

Herod, in turn, was glad to see the "Prisoner", having heard many things about Him and hoped to see a miracle performed. His curiosity went unrewarded as the "Man" was silent and unmoved, answering nothing to his questions, nor to the onslaught of the accusers who had brought Him, Luke 23:6-12. The silence of Jesus seemingly vexed Herod, who turned to mockery and sent Him back to Pilate. These two Roman rulers were made friends again by their contact with Jesus and were no real enemies of Him, but indifferent and undecided, which paved the way for the unjust sentence to be given by Pilate as the Jews insisted for the death of the Lord Jesus, John 23:13-26.

During all these hours of abuse and torture, Jesus was in communion and unbroken fellowship with the Father. He remained thus until He had finished His ministry to the multitude. On the Cross we see Him speaking to the woman who cradled the Holy One, pray for those who were crucifying Him, lead the penitent thief into the Kingdom and then enter the suffering under the wrath of God as He bore the penalty of sin. No wonder the earth was shrouded in darkness as Jesus suffered those three long hours alone! Luke 23:44-45.

The cost to gain salvation for lost sinners was high! No one else was able to take His place. Nothing else would do. No one else really knew the price involved except God the Father, God the Son and God the Holy Spirit, Isaiah 53:1; Matthew 27:46; Hebrews 9:14. The cost of the Cross is far beyond the comprehension of man, even the Disciples were unable to understand what the Atonement was really going to do and the price of it.

Not only did it cost the Son the abandonment of all His former Glory by the side of the Father, but to suffer under the righteous government of God when He bore the penalty of our sins, was to be placed as a servant, Philippians 2:5-8.

But what did it cost the Father to see the Son rejected, betrayed, insulted, spit upon, scourged, mocked and crucified like a notorious thief? Certainly we must conclude that He is long-suffering indeed and not willing that any should perish. Present day rejection of the message of salvation must stir His righteous anger, but the day of wrath is withheld until the last soul has responded to the call of the "Bridegroom" and the Church is complete. All this time of patient waiting must cost the Deity untold longings, for souls to respond to the sacrifice made on their behalf.

How any human being in his right mind can reject the gift of Eternal Life purchased for sinners is hard to understand. Only in the light of what the Word of God says about such ungratefulness can we know ourselves aright. Scripture must be true when it says "the God of this world, (Satan) hath blinded the minds of them that believe not", 2 Corinthians 4:3-4. However, God the Holy Spirit is here to open those eyes as He is invited to do so. John 16:7-15.

Alas! and did my Saviour bleed,
And did my Sovereign die?
Would He devote that sacred head
For such a worm as I?

Was it for crimes that I had done
He groaned upon the tree?

Amazing pity! grace unknown!
And love beyond degree!

But drops of grief can ne'er repay
The debt of love I owe;
Here, Lord, I give myself to Thee.
'Tis all that I can do.

Refr.
At the cross, at the cross
where I first saw the light,
And the burden of my heart
rolled away,
It was there by faith I received my sight,
And now I am happy all the day.

Haliburton E.F.C. Chapter sponsors Bible teacher

All Bible believing people should be interested to hear the Rev. Lorne Pritchard give his slide presentations on the Holy Land Prophecy. He had led numerous tours of Palestine, Egypt, Greece, Turkey and Italy in recent years. His keen interest and understanding of Biblical prophecy make Mr. Pritchard the kind of servant the Lord is using to awaken many to the reality of future days at our doorsteps. Be sure to hear him speak on his slide presentation of the Holy Land on Saturday evening at the Haliburton Secondary School. The following week of May 9th, 16th Mr. Pritchard will minister at the Gospel Lighthouse in Haliburton.

The E.F.C. Chapter of Haliburton County is very pleased to promote good, sound Biblical teaching and will be showing the latest Moody Bible film "In the Beginning of Creation" on June 12th. Later in the season a Family Life Seminar will be held, with Dr. Seidenspinner being the guest servant. Be sure to support your local Chapter in prayer and attendance at these various fellowship events.

Firm policies requested by metal working industry

An urgent requirement for firm policies supporting the domestic metalworking sector is stressed by the industry in a report released by the Ontario Ministry of Industry and Tourism.

The industry feels that well defined government purchasing policies to buy Canadian manufactured goods are desired in order to encourage growth in all areas of secondary manufacturing and to offset imports.

The metalworking study is one of 13 reports released by the ministry on the major industrial sectors of Ontario. They are working documents which seek to identify the needs of industry in the province, establish common objectives and present industry's suggestions for achieving them.

In the report, the metalworking industry outlines the need for government measures to ensure an adequate supply of capital at reasonable interest rates.

As the industry is characterized by many small establishments with limited financial and managerial capabilities, the report suggests greater use of consultants, or multi-disciplinary teams, where existing company resources are inadequate.

Management is also urged to become more aware of sources of available assistance - such as technical journals, technology missions and seminars, Ontario Research Foundation, National Research Council, university information and research facilities and government financial assistance programs.

The industry states the need for training of domestic workers in the required skills is imperative. Wider application of apprenticeship programs would help lessen the industry's dependence on importing skilled workers.

The report is the result of meetings and talks between Claude Bennett, Ontario Minister of Industry and Tourism, and representatives of business, industry and labor.

For further information contact the Ministry's Technology Branch at (416) 965-7972.

"Tip differential" policy is helpful

Introduction of a 'tip differential' to Ontario's new minimum wage rates is going to be an "assistance for the hospitality industry in the province," Industry and Tourism Minister Claude Bennett said today.

Interviewed on the new wage rates, introduced by the Ministry of Labour March 15, Mr. Bennett said he was pleased to see this first step in applying a tip differential for staff serving alcoholic beverages.

"It's a concept I've been working for, with support from the tourism and hospitality industry, since becoming Minister of Industry and Tourism in 1973", he said.

Separate minimum rate established for workers serving alcoholic beverages in premises licensed under the Liquor Licence Act of Ontario 1975, will be $2.50 per hour. The new general minimum wage rate is set at $2.65 per hour. Minimum rates for students less than 18 years old is $2.15 per hour.

"I believe the tip differential concept will assist the province's hospitality industry by helping to keep prices stable", Mr. Bennett said. "Wage rates have a large bearing on prices charged by the hospitality industry. We now have a recognition that some workers in this industry receive a substantial tip income," he said.

Scholarships to 1000 students

The Honourable Harry C. Parrott, DDS, Minister of Colleges and Universities, announced recently that Ontario Graduate Scholarships have been offered to 1,000 outstanding students among those intending to pursue full-time graduate studies at Ontario universities in 1976-77.

The scholarships reward academic excellence and are worth $1,250 per term for a maximum of $3,750 over three consecutive terms. This year's Ontario Graduate Scholarships have increased in dollar value by more than 10 percent over last year's scholarships which had a maximum value of $800 plus tuition fees.

Scholarship winners were selected on the basis of academic merit, regardless of discipline. The selection board was chaired by Professor D.C. Jordan of the University of Guelph. Other members of the board were Professor M.E. Arthua, Lakehead University; Professor A.J. Baer, University of Ottawa; Professor G.B. Craig, University of Toronto;

Professor C.B. Hieatt, The University of Western Ontario; Professor J.T. Ryan, Carleton University; and Professor D.M. Winch of McMaster University.

More than 4,000 students applied for Ontario Graduate Scholarships for the 1976-77 academic year. Awards that have been offered to, but declined by, any of the 1,000 top-rated students will be offered to other applicants in order of academic merit.

Min. wage up for harvesters

The Honourable Bette Stephenson, M.D., Minister of Labour, announced today that the minimum wage for workers harvesting fruit, vegetables and tobacco in Ontario in 1976 will be $2.65 per hour effective immediately.

The $2.65 rate results from an increase of 24c per hour in the minimum and brings the harvest workers' minimum wage in line with the current general minimum wage in Ontario.

The process of establishing the agricultural minimum wage involved examination of wages paid to Ontario harvest workers in 1975, extensive investigation of wage rates paid to agricultural workers in those jurisdictions with which Ontario agriculture must compete, and lengthy discussion with the Agricultural Industry Advisory Committee; a group composed of farmers and farmworkers advising the Minister of Labour on employment standards in agriculture.

The rate established is the same as that which will be paid to seasonal farm workers who come to Ontario from the Caribbean Islands, Mexico and other countries under contracts arranged by the Canada Department of Manpower and Immigration.

It is estimated that approximately 50,000 seasonal harvest workers will be employed in Ontario at the peak of the 1976 harvest season.

CPP benefits up 11.2%

An increase of 11.2 per cent in Canada Pension Plan benefits has been announced by Health and Welfare Minister Marc Lalonde.

The increase, effective in January of this year, reflects the full rise in the cost of living over the past year.

As a result of the increase the maximum full retirement pension is $154.86. Maximum monthly disability pension is $157.59 while monthly benefits for disabled contributors' children and orphans of deceased contributors is set at $41.44. Maximum monthly surviving spouses' pension is $99.51 per month for persons under age 65 and $92.92 per month for spouses 65 years of age or older.

WELCOME

Thank-You

To all my friends, neighbours and relatives who were so kind to me while I was in the Minden Hospital. Please accept my sincere thanks for phone calls, flowers, cards and visits.

A special thank you to Dr. Murphy and the nurses and staff for their kind words and wonderful care.

Tessa Davis

I wish to take this opportunity to thank those that sent cards, phone calls and visits while I was a patient in the Minden Hospital.

A special thank you to the Doctors, Nursing and Kitchen Staff.

Yours truly
Mrs. Rachel Paige

I wish to thank my friends and relatives for all their lovely cards, flowers and gifts of food that I received during my stay in the Civic Hospital.

A special thanks to the Ambulance Drivers and to Dr. Good, Dr. Heyes and Dr. Belch.

Edna Avery

My wife and I would like to thank all our friends and relatives for their prayers, cards, visits and flowers that I received during my stay in the hospital.

Minden O.P.P. report

The Minden Detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police report the following activity for the period of April 12 to 18, 1976: the staff investigated 13 motor vehicle collisions and 81 general occurrences. During this period there were six persons charged with violations under the Liquor Licence Act and three persons charged with impaired driving, eight break-ins were reported and three compassionate messages were delivered. One charge of impaired driving and a violation under the Liquor Licence Act were levied against a hockey fan from the Watford area who was in Haliburton for the play-off game between Watford and Haliburton.

On Monday, April 12, a car driven by Ann C. Fanke, age 38, of Gooderham, sustained $700 damage when it was in collision with a parked car owned by Kenneth D. Sanderson of Wilberforce, which received $10 in damage in the accident which occurred at 1:15 p.m. on County Road 3 (Buckhorn Road). The Sanderson vehicle was parked at the intersection of County Road 3 and Highway 503 when the northbound Franke vehicle collided with it after the driver had applied the brakes, ending up in the east ditch. Constable Roy Telford of the Minden Detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police was the investigating officer.

County Road 2, in the Ingoldsby area was the scene of a one-car accident at 8:15 p.m. on Friday, April 16, when a car driven by 23 year old John F. Wozniczka of Foxley Street in Toronto left the travelled portion of the road and entered the east ditch while travelling southbound. The driver and a passenger, 24 year old Christopher MacDonald of West Mall in Etobicoke, both received bruises in the mishap. The Wozniczka car sustained an estimated $500 in damage.
